WELCOME NOTE

Welcome, and welcome back!

Whether you are new to the department or returning after the summer break, an exciting academic year lies ahead of you. We are hoping to be back in-person for the entire year. As a small department offering seminar-style courses and loads of extra-curricular activities, we thrive when personal interaction is possible. Our newly renovated student lounge offers space for studying and frolicking alike – so make sure to check out our Kaffeestunde or other events.

By making the decision to take German courses, you have added fascinating facets to your studies at UofT. We take our teaching mission seriously: Our course evaluations are consistently among the highest in Arts and Science, and our faculty members won the Dean's Outstanding Teaching Award three times in recent years (2018, 2019, 2021) and also received the CAUTG's Innovate German Award (2020). We offer all the advantages of a small, well-organized department: Intimate class settings that allow you to get to know your instructors and classmates, highly qualified teachers who will engage you and stimulate you in each class session, and a variety of captivating topics to be explored in our seminars.

If this is your first contact with German, take it easy and enjoy! Check out our two introductory courses GER 100Y (Language) and GER 150H (Culture) or our Yiddish course GER260Y. If you are curious about a German degree (minor, major, or specialist), read these sections and schedule an appointment with the Undergraduate Coordinator who will assist you in creating a personalized study plan and help you avoid delays. And on your way, do not miss out on our amazing study abroad opportunities.

For starters, here are some important guidelines & suggestions:

- (1) If you are new to the program and have any pre-knowledge of German, you are required to take a PLACEMENT TEST as early as possible. The test will allow you to make the best of your German studies. Self-placement is not permitted in our program and will result in removal from class.
- (2) If you enter the program with medium/advanced German skills, some requirements will be waived allowing you to enter the program at the appropriate level. Contact the Undergraduate Coordinator to discuss your options.
- (3) If you are considering a German major or specialist, please take the two pre-requisite courses (GER 205H & GER 305H) as early as possible. This will allow you to take 300 & 400 level topic courses in German and help you avoid unnecessary waiting periods.
- (4) For students interested in auditing courses: Sorry, our department doesn't allow this. But please do feel free to attend our extra-curricular activities.

In general, plan your course of studies well and early on to avoid stress in your last year(s). Visit us and schedule appointments with program coordinators and faculty members during their office hours. We are all more than happy to assist you. And do not forget to enjoy the small-size, seminar-style courses our program has to offer.

Have an amazing academic year!

INTRODUCTION TO THE PROGRAM

The study of German introduces students to one of the most influential cultures of modern Europe, a culture that has produced and continues to produce writers, artists, scientists, and thinkers who have changed the face of western civilization. Learning German opens the door to many intellectual, technical, political, and economic fields. German scholars have been leaders in philosophy, the sciences, history, archaeology, sociology and political science, while German literature is equally distinguished, with writers like Wolfram von Eschenbach, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe and Friedrich Schiller, Heinrich Heine, Franz Kafka, Rainer Maria Rilke, Bertolt Brecht, Thomas Mann, Ingeborg Bachmann, Hannah Arendt, Günter Grass, Christa Wolf, Emine Sevgi Özdamar, W.G. Sebald, and many more, who have dealt with a wide range of human problems and concerns.

Knowledge of the German language opens the door to several European nations, including Europe's largest economy. German is useful or necessary for specialists in many disciplines; it is also valuable in various career areas (e.g., the foreign service; graduate studies in German; teaching German at schools; translation work; internships and jobs in German-speaking countries; employment in government, cultural organizations, business/commerce, media, tourism, publishing, public relations, marketing and international relations).

The Department of German offers a variety of programs and courses designed to meet the different needs and interests of students on all levels: absolute beginners as well as advanced students and native speakers. The program consists of language and topic courses covering a wide field of Germanic Studies including Medieval Studies and Yiddish Studies (Al and Malka Green Program in Yiddish Studies). As one of the smaller departments within this large university, it provides substantial knowledge and skills in intimate class settings. The Department prides itself on facilitating highly individualized courses of studies as well as intensive interactions between instructors and students, as well as among the students themselves. It supports opportunities for students to study and work in Germany, by encouraging participation in programs established by the German government, by Canadian universities and by our own Arts & Science Faculty's Centre for International Experience and Summer Abroad Program. One of these is the exchange program under which students can spend an academic year at the Humboldt University in Berlin. (More on this later in the handbook.)

Additional information can be obtained from the Undergraduate Coordinator. It is recommendable particularly to students in degree programs to schedule an appointment early in their course of studies. The successful completion of a four-year program may entitle the student to enter the M.A. / Ph.D. program in the Graduate Division of the Department.

Fun Facts: Did you know that Hollywood speaks German? Well, Natalie Portman does, because she studied it, as did Chris Pratt, long before he married Arnold Schwarzenegger's daughter. Bruce Willis and Leonardo DiCaprio learned it from their German mothers, and so did Sandra Bullock, whose mom was a German opera singer. And there is, of course, Michael Fassbender, born in Heidelberg to a German father – watch him in Quentin Tarantino's Inglorious Basterds! And Kirsten Dunst's dad was a doctor from Hamburg. There are also quite a few Germans who made it big in Tinseltown, among them Bewegter-Mann Til Schweiger, Run-Lola-Run Franka Potente, Goodbye-Lenin Daniel Brühl, Christopher Waltz and Diane Kruger – yes, indeed, even the Spectre and Helen of Troy are part of the German gang! So, what are you waiting for? Come and join this illustrious, ever-widening circle of German speakers – Hollywood is awaiting you! ☺

PLANNING YOUR STUDIES

There are many ways of engaging with German and German Studies. Our program is designed to progressively lead you from introductory courses to more specialized courses to in-depth seminars on various aspects of German language, literature and culture.

If you have never had German before, your entry point into our program is GER 100Y, a year-long language course for absolute beginners. Another course designed to spark your curiosity is GER 150H, an introduction to German culture taught in English. Both courses should be taken during the first year (or as early as possible).

Logical next steps are GER 200Y (the continuation of GER 100Y) and GER 205H, an introduction to German literature and working methods offered every Winter semester. By then, you will have had three semesters of German instruction and will be ready to tackle basic literature texts in German. It is strongly recommended that you take GER 205H in your second year, since it is the prerequisite for many of our German topic courses on the 300-level.

Check out our listings for more courses on the 200-level; most of them are taught in English, but once you reach the 300-level, German predominates. Our program offers courses on literature, culture, film, theatre and theory. Each course is designed to stimulate critical thinking. Small class-setting and seminar-style lessons engage you and allow you to interact with peers and instructors.

What if you have previous knowledge of German? In that case you are required to contact the Undergraduate Administrator to schedule a PLACEMENT TEST before entering the program.

Internal Link: Exemplary study plans for German specialists, majors and minors.

COUNSELING

We offer a structured, streamlined program and take special care to place students at appropriate levels and to guide them through the program. We encourage all degree students to inform themselves about the various opportunities the program offers and to schedule an appointment with the Undergraduate Coordinator for an individual counseling session at an early stage. Self-placement is not permitted. Students without prerequisites / without permission will be removed from classes after the first week of the semester. To avoid this, schedule an appointment for taking the PLACEMENT TEST and discuss your options with the Undergraduate Coordinator.

All instructors hold office hours during the academic year for individual counseling. Students with special needs or questions about types of programs should contact the departmental office. Do not forget to consult this handbook first – most questions are addressed and answered here.

PLACEMENT TEST

Self-placement in our classes is not permitted and will result in removal from class. Students with any pre-knowledge of German (e.g., German at home, high school German, stays in German-speaking countries) are required to schedule a placement test before registering for courses. The results will determine on what level you enter the program. If you have taken German literature/culture courses before and/or have studied in Germany, you might be placed in advanced topic courses early on. So it is worth inquiring! To find out more about placement and procedures, and to schedule an appointment, contact our undergraduate administrator, Fan Jia.

Programs & Course Guidelines

The Department of German at the University of Toronto offers a variety of programs and courses designed to meet the different needs and interests of students on all levels: for total beginners as well as for advanced students and native speakers. The program consists of language and topic courses covering a wide field of Germanic Studies including Medieval Studies & Yiddish Studies. As one of the smaller departments of this large university, it provides substantiated knowledge and skills in intimate class settings thus facilitating a highly individualized course of studies and intensive interaction between instructors and students and among students.

While the program of the German Department is mainly geared toward guiding students to acquire critical literacy in German, various courses are offered in English. Within our present programs, these courses allow students to tackle topics that would otherwise be beyond their linguistic reach. Taken in combination with each other, these courses cover a wide range of topics dealing with central aspect of German culture. After a general introduction to German Studies (GER 150H), students have a choice of topics, such as German literature (GER 220H/270H), film (GER 251H), philosophy (GER 275H), intellectual history (GER411H) as well as Yiddish literature (GER 361H/367H), leading toward the advanced and specialized courses on German intellectual history (GER 410H) and German medieval cultures (GER 426H).

Overview: Two-Year Rotation

Language courses and gateway courses are required courses for the major & specialist degrees and get offered every year. All other courses, which include Business German courses and elective topic courses in German and in English are offered every other year. This table (subject to changes) provides a general schematic overview:

Year 1		Year 2

Notes: 4th-year topic courses are marked. / E-G-J-Topic courses may move between fall & winter semesters.

Language Courses

For the majority of students, language courses are the point of entry into the program. They are offered from the beginning to the advanced level. Unless you are an absolute beginner (in which case GER 100Y “Intro to German” is the right course for you to take), a required PLACEMENT TEST determines the appropriate language course level for you. If you possess any prior knowledge of German, please contact the department to schedule it as early as possible.

Students with some prior knowledge may be placed in GER 101H (winter term); more experienced students may be moved up into GER 200Y/201H “Intermediate German 1” or GER 300Y/301H “Intermediate German 2.” In some cases, students may be released from language courses entirely and be able to take topic courses right away. Finally, GER 400H/401H “Advanced German” focus on German stylistics while offering intensive Grammar reviews on a sophisticated level.

PLEASE NOTE: Our language courses are based on regular attendance. / A grade average of at least 60% is required to proceed to the next level (e.g., from GER 100Y to GER 200Y).

More specialized language studies are provided GER 205H “German Literature 1” (gateway to literature courses), in GER 272H “Introduction to Business German” and GER 370H/372H “Business Culture 1/2” (for students wishing to combine linguistic competence with insight into business & management practices), GER 340H “German Theatre Production” (for students with a creative vein) and GER 426H “Medieval Language & Culture” (for students interested in emerging cultures of German and their relation to the present). In addition to German, the department also contains a vibrant YIDDISH PROGRAM including language courses on all levels (GER 260Y/360H /460H), enriching the course offerings with the choice of a non-territorial Germanic language, spoken throughout the world. Here is a full list of our courses.

Topic Courses

Topic courses (on literature/culture/film/intellectual history) are focus courses studying particular periods or aspects of German culture & literature in depth. Most courses are offered in German presupposing a more or less sound knowledge of the German language; a number of courses, however, are taught in English (these courses are marked with an [E] behind the course title) and are open to students from all disciplines wishing to engage with and to understand contemporary Germany. The program presently offers two kinds of topic courses:

GATEWAY COURSES: Certain courses – GER 150H (Culture), GER 205H (Literature 1) and GER 305H (Literature 2) – are required for German majors & specialists. Please note: GER 205H is the prerequisite for most topic courses on the 300-level, while GER 305H is a prerequisite for most topic courses on the 400-level. It is recommended that you take these courses early on! Ideally GER150H/205H/305H should be taken in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd year of study respectively, i.e., parallel to the language courses GER 100Y/200Y/300Y. Gateway courses are offered each year.

ELECTIVES: All other topic courses are electives (i.e., students can make their own choice after consulting the Undergraduate Coordinator). Note that most of these courses have certain pre-requirements (typically GER 205H), so be sure to plan your course of studies accordingly. Electives are offered in 2-year rotation (i.e., if you don’t see them on the list in one year, they will be offered in the following year).

In addition, the following YIDDISH STUDIES courses are offered in English: GER 361H “Yiddish Literature” [E] and GER 367H “Topics in Yiddish or German Jewish Literature and Culture” [E].

All courses with a GER denominator count toward German degree programs, but certain rules apply (e.g., a limited number of courses taught in English may count; see the sections on German degree programs).

Related Matters

FIRST-YEAR SEMINARS: Like all FAS Departments, we offer first-year seminars each year. These courses (GER 194H-198H) are open to first-year students only. They provide a small-course experience that allows these newcomers to develop core academic skills. They count toward German degree programs.

INDEPENDENT STUDY COURSES: Advanced students may, under certain circumstances, undertake an independent reading & research project of their own choice. GER 490H is designed to provide an opportunity to work with an instructor on a project of mutual interest. Often this involves delving deeper into an area of special interest touched upon in a course already taken. To be eligible to take GER 490, a student must have standing in at least 14 courses. The student must have at least a 75% average in all of his or her Germanic literature courses. No student may take this course more than once. It does carry specialist and major credit.

Procedure: After finding a faculty member willing to act as supervisor, student & supervisor work out a project between them and then submit their proposal in writing to the department for approval. A substantive research component is essential to this course (i.e., a literature review alone is not sufficient). Since supervision of GER 490 is “overload,” no faculty member is required to take on such supervision; participation is voluntary. Moreover, no faculty member may supervise more than one such course in a given academic year. Given the constraints, the number of sections of GER 490 is limited. Interested students should check the regulations and note particularly the deadlines for application: Permission needs to be obtained by March 1st (Summer Term), May 1st (Fall Term) and by Nov. 1st (Spring Term).

COGNATE COURSES: Certain courses taken outside of the German program may count towards a German major or specialist. Precondition: The course in question should contain a 'significant German element' and a considerable amount of the course reading and work (esp. final essay) has to deal with German topics. Cognate courses require advance approval by the Undergraduate Coordinator, unless they have been identified as such. For a list of identified cognate courses offered each year, see the departmental website.

STUDY ABROAD & CREDIT: Our department offers a wide variety of opportunities to pursue language studies in German-speaking countries, ranging from exciting summer programs to full year exchange programs in Berlin and other areas of Germany. In order to assure academic credit for courses taken abroad, they should be pre-approved by the Undergraduate Coordinator. Full-year programs and short intensive summer programs for credit are possible. Contact the department and/or the Centre for International Experience to find out more. Information is also available on the German Department website and later in this handbook.

GERMAN LANGUAGE CITATION: The Citation is intended to offer a transcript credential to those who study German and do not assemble enough courses for the Minor. (Note: If you study for a German degree, this citation is of no additional value to you.) To qualify you need two full courses with 4 credits in total beyond the 100-level with a minimum grade of B- in each of them. Contact the Undergraduate Coordinator for more information.

iPRAKTIKUM Internships

Apply what you have learned in the classroom to work-related, career contexts with the help of iPRAKTIKUM, an experiential learning and internationalization initiative that will find you an exciting internship in the GTA or in a German-speaking country. iPRAKTIKUM is designed to provide you with an opportunity to acquire work experience, practice your German skills, and develop global fluency. We facilitate placements with a wide variety of organizations, from local schools to software companies to international NGOs, and support you throughout. Eco-Hub Freiburg is a special, Germany-based program of placements for – but not limited to – students pursuing degrees in areas related to the environment and sustainability. Interested in social entrepreneurship? Then the Berlin Social Innovation Hub is for you.

iPRAKTIKUM internships can be accredited in the form of a Co-Curricular Record (CCR) on your UofT transcript or as a credit course in conjunction with GER 391H “iPRAKTIKUM Experiential Learning & Internationalization Internship”. You can complete your internship during the academic term (e.g. once a week), in a more concentrated block during the summer, or in a custom format according to your needs and the needs of the host organization.

For information on how to participate, to keep up with the latest news, and to contact us check out our iPRAKTIKUM website.

Certificate in Global German Studies

The Certificate in German Studies (U of T Global Scholars) recognizes the achievement of learning goals associated with global fluency in the German context, including a basic level of linguistic competence. It is a response to an increasingly networked, multipolar world and the desire of students to be equipped to grasp and master global challenges. The Certificate reflects the Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures’ long-term curricular goals in this area by creating a transparent pathway for students. It is aligned with the U of T’s Global U Framework, which aspires to develop globally minded students across disciplines.

Requirements:

The Certificate is open to all students in all degree programs.

The Global Scholar Certificate consists of 2.0 FCEs:

- FCE in German language at any level, including GER100Y1, GER101H1, GER200Y1, GER201H1, GER272H1, GER300Y1, GER301H1, GER370H1, GER372H1, GER400Y1. Students with very advanced previous knowledge of German may in consultation with the Department take a combination of other 300 or 400-level GER topics courses (taught in German) to meet the requirement.
- GER 290H1 ‘Global Issues / German Contexts’.
- 0.5 FCE in global experience. May take the form of an internship course, GER391H1 ‘iPRAKTIKUM Experiential Learning and Internationalization Internship’. Students may also complete a study abroad course in a German-speaking country, such as GER354Y0. International Course Modules (ICM) or the GER398H0 Research Excursion Program also fulfil the global experience requirement with the previous consent of the department.

German Degree Programs

GENERAL INFORMATION

Our undergraduate programs – a specialist and a major degree in German Studies, four minors (German Studies, Business German, Yiddish Studies, German Studies in Translation) and a Certificate in Global Studies – aim to provide advanced critical literacy in German and/or Yiddish language, literature, and culture. The program enables students to succeed in a range of academic, scientific, economic, and administrative careers in a globalized world in which German culture plays a significant role.

German specialization requires only 10 full courses from the Department of German. Students are therefore free to broaden their intellectual experience by taking courses in related disciplines (i.e., other languages and literatures, Philosophy, Religious Studies, History, Classics, Linguistics, Fine Art, Music, European Studies or International Relations).

Our Specialist and Major Programs provide students with a mastery of oral and written German through a succession of language courses that cover all levels from total beginners to advanced speakers; through their extra topic courses students achieve a more comprehensive mastery of German and a deeper understanding of German culture.

We offer a solid streamlined program in literature, film and theory exposing students to various geographical, historical, social and cultural contexts, emphasizing the development of advanced critical thinking and sophisticated analytical skills. Students acquire research skills and methods through the opportunity to work with individual faculty members in their areas of expertise.

Students will be prepared for a variety of employment opportunities (e.g. graduate studies in German; teaching German at primary and secondary schools; translation work; internships and jobs in German-speaking countries; employment in government, cultural organizations, business, media, publishing, public relations, marketing, and international relations). At a time when Canada and UofT are emphasizing multinational cooperation, a degree in German provides an excellent educational background leading to numerous rewarding careers both inside Canada and abroad.

Programs & Requirements

GERMAN STUDIES (B.A.)

UofT regulations require that students declare their subject of study (Subject POST) by the end of their first year. Enrolment in the Specialist and Major Programs in German is open to students who have successfully completed their first year. Please consult the Faculty of Arts & Science Calendar for more general program requirements.

To facilitate the fulfillment of their course complement we strongly advise all students to take GER 150H, 205H, and 305H concurrently with their Language Practice courses as early as possible (i.e. during the first three years). Students who have prior experience with German and wish to continue their studies should contact the Department for suitable course selections.

The program descriptions below are intended to give you an indication of typical selections of year-by-year courses. The 100/200/300 designators are a guideline and do not represent a rigid chronological requirement. For more information and individualized degree course planning, please schedule an appointment with the Undergraduate Coordinator (required for degree students). In special cases, certain requirements (e.g., GER 150H, 205H, 272H) may be waived, but self-placement is NOT permitted.

Course Descriptions

Courses are taught in German unless otherwise marked: courses marked with [E] are taught in English; GER 260Y, 360H and 460H are taught in Yiddish. Descriptions are subject to change. Evaluation procedures and requirements will be announced during the 1st week of classes. Consult the Faculty of Arts & Science's Timetable or our website for time and location of courses and for syllabi!

GER 100Y/101H INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN

This introductory German course is for students with no prior knowledge of the language. It is a year course divided into two sections. Based on a communicative and task-based approach, it is designed to develop proficiency in oral and written communication skills while providing students with knowledge and understanding of the societies and cultures of German-speaking countries. Students will develop their listening, speaking, reading and writing skills through a variety of stimulating off- and on-line activities, both during live meetings and on the reliable online platform accompanying the textbook. Topics cover areas such as introducing and talking about oneself, shopping, telling time and recounting a day, family life, describing and renting an apartment, travel, health and fitness or studying abroad. Vocabulary will be presented in the context of culturally significant issues. Additionally, the course will provide students with a foundation in a number of basic grammatical structures and concepts. Live online sessions will be devoted mostly to communicative and interactive exercises. In addition to preparation at home, regularly participating in and attending the online sessions is paramount in order to successfully complete the course.

NOTES: Students with any German background are required to take a PLACEMENT TEST. / GER101H covers the 2nd semester of this course; the department registers you after you have been placed at that level.

GER 150H INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN CULTURE [E]

This is an introduction to the interdisciplinary study of the contemporary cultural, social, economic, and political life of the German-speaking peoples in their historical and international context. Intended for students who are relatively unfamiliar with German culture, the course demonstrates the diverse ways students may understand and interpret “things German”.

NOTES: Required course for Specialists & Majors. / Taught in English, open to students across disciplines.

GER 194H-198H FIRST-YEAR-FOUNDATION SEMINARS

FYF-seminars are open to students in their first year and are designed to help facilitate a smooth entry into university life and academic practice. They focus on discussion of issues, questions and controversies surrounding a particular discipline in small-group settings. The goals are to encourage the development of critical thinking, writing skills, oral presentation and research methods.

GER 200Y/201H INTERMEDIATE GERMAN 1

PREREQUISITE: GER 100Y/101H or PLACEMENT TEST

This intermediate German language course builds on skills acquired in beginner's German. It is a year course divided into two sections and is designed to provide students with genuine communication experiences while reviewing and further developing participants' linguistic and cultural competencies. Students will have a chance to practice and enhance their German speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills by engaging with a variety of texts and media during live classes, as well as on the reliable online platform accompanying the textbook. The themes in the textbook provide a springboard for various online activities, assignments, and vocabulary building tasks. All class readings, videos, projects, and presentations will explore historical, social, political, and popular topics while aspects of Germanic and North American cultures are being compared. Learning strategies and self-assessment are part of every chapter, allowing for differentiation among various types of learners. Students will further practice grammatical structures and acquire vocabulary that will allow them to express opinions, agreements, and disagreements in communicative situations encountered in work, school, and travel. By learning about German, Austrian, and Swiss cities featured in the textbook and supporting materials, students will get to explore regional differences in German-speaking countries. Regular online meetings will be devoted mostly to communicative and interactive exercises and group work. In order to successfully participate in these activities, independent work and preparation are paramount.

NOTE: GER201H covers the 2nd semester of this course; the department registers you in it after you have been placed at that level.

GER 205H MASTERPIECES OF GERMAN LITERATURE 1

PRE-/CO-REQUISITE: GER 200Y/201H or placement test

This offers an introduction to work methods and skills pertaining to the study of German literature. As such, the course is meant to provide a transition from language to topic courses. Students will receive training in how to read and analyze short literary texts, how to find secondary literature and how to write short papers.

NOTES: Required course for majors and specialists; it should be taken as early as possible (and can't be taken after completion of GER300Y/301H). / Prerequisite course for 300-level topic courses in German.

GER 210H POETS AND POWER: ART, MEDIA AND THE NAZIS [E]

To the surprise of many, aesthetics played a vital role in the lives of Nazis and their politics. Hitler was a failed painter, Goebbels a poet, and Göring a collector; other high-ranking officials likewise fashioned themselves as artists. In this course, we will examine how these personal predilections transformed into an aesthetic vision of politics: through the fascist cult of physical perfection, the theatrics of political media, anti-Semitic entertainment films, and the eroticization of the Führer-figure. We will investigate this marriage of beauty and violence and ask how it helped to make the “Third Reich” attractive to many Germans. Beginning with the great avant-garde experiments of the pre-Nazi era, we will analyze why Hitler banned this “degenerate” art – even though he adopted some of its style in propaganda posters. We will continue by examining the Nazis’ glorification of Greek and Roman images of beauty and their aesthetic justifications for genocide. Throughout the course, we will consider some of the high points of German culture – in philosophy, music, and literature – and ask: How did a society that produced such works of genius also create Nazism and the Holocaust? Is high culture necessarily a bulwark against barbarism? And do we have similarly seductive combinations of culture and politics in our world today? How might we notice such allures yet still mark their dangers, maintain our critical distance, and resist?

GER 220H GREAT WORKS OF GERMAN LITERATURE IN TRANSLATION [E]

This course offers a survey of important themes and topics in German literature from the eighteenth century to the present. In individual years, it may examine literary milestones by major authors, placing them in social and historical context, or it may focus on genres, motives or specific event, as they are reflected in literature and the arts. Texts are studied within their historical context in terms of such aspects as plot, characterization, theme, structure, style, language and theory.

NOTE: Taught in English, open to students across disciplines.

GER 251H TOPICS IN GERMAN FILM HISTORY [E]

This course examines German cinema against the backdrop of European film history. A comparative approach enables examination of what binds German cinema to European cinema – shared histories and political concerns – as well as what is nationally unique and distinctive. By matching select films with readings from social theory, cultural studies, and film studies, we will compare and contrast these socio-historical concerns while also attending to the medium specificities of film style, aesthetics, and narrative form.

NOTE: Taught in English, open to students across disciplines.

GER 260Y ELEMENTARY YIDDISH

This course is an introduction to the Yiddish language of Ashkenazic Jews. Yiddish is a Germanic language, but due to the unique social situation of Jews in Eastern Europe it also has large Hebrew-Aramaic and Slavic elements. Yiddish was spoken in Eastern Europe, including Russia, Germany, Poland, and Lithuania, as well as in non-Eastern European countries such as Canada, the United States, and Argentina, from c. the 12th century to the present day. While learning the language the course will also introduce students to Yiddish literature & culture, providing a greater understanding of the historical and contemporary, religious and secular communities that speak and spoke this language.

GER 270H MONEY AND ECONOMY IN GERMAN LITERATURE AND CULTURE [E]

In this course, we examine key literary, philosophical, and cultural texts, in order to understand how modern culture approaches problems such as property, debt, and exchange value.

NOTES: Taught in English, open to students across disciplines. / GER 270H and 272H alternate with GER 370H and 372H and are only offered every other year.

HPS 270H SCIENCE & LITERATURE [E]

This course will focus on the interplay between science and literature from ancient Greece to the present day. We'll examine the impact of major scientific paradigm shifts on the literature of their time, and situate literary texts within the context of contemporary scientific discoveries and technological innovations.

NOTES: Taught in English, open to students across disciplines.

GER 272H INTRODUCTION TO BUSINESS GERMAN

PRE-/CO-REQUISITE: GER 200Y/201H or placement test

This course introduces students to basic concepts & vocabulary needed in the German business context. Course objectives are to increase the student's proficiency in the four skills (speaking, listening, reading and writing) - with special emphasis on selected German business topics to assist students in better understanding the German business world.

NOTE: GER 270H and 272H alternate with GER 370H and 372H and are only offered every other year.

GER 275H MARX, NIETZSCHE, FREUD [E]

This is an introductory course to the thought of Karl Marx, Friedrich Nietzsche, and Sigmund Freud and their pioneering contributions to the understanding of the individual and society in modernity. Readings include selections from writings of the early Marx, the Communist Manifesto, and Capital, Nietzsche's critique of culture, academe, and nationalism, and Freud's theory of culture, his views on the psychopathology of everyday life, on the meaning of dreams, symptoms, the return of the repressed, and what it might mean to live in a free society.

NOTE: Taught in English, open to students across disciplines.

GER 290H GLOBAL ISSUES / GERMAN CONTEXTS [E]

The movement of cultural products, material goods, capital, people, ideas, and information across national borders has resulted in a new quality of global interdependency. The course examines the contemporary character of globalization with a special focus on its environmental impacts in German-speaking contexts. We consider artistic, cultural, technological, and social practices in German-speaking and global contexts that explore questions of sustainability and a livable future. The course is highly recommended as preparation for students interested in participating in the Department's iPRAKTIKUM Inter-nationalization & Experiential Learning internship program—particularly for placements with Eco-Hub Freiburg organizations in Germany. (Additional information HERE.)

NOTE: Taught in English, open to students across disciplines.

GER 300Y INTERMEDIATE GERMAN 2

PREREQUISITE: GER 200Y/201H or PLACEMENT TEST

NOTE: GER301H covers the 2nd semester of this course; the department registers you in it after you have been placed at that level.

This intermediate German language course builds on GER200Y. It is a year course divided into two sections and focuses on effective oral and written expression, hearing and reading comprehension, in-depth review of grammar as well as the study of more complex structures. Through engagement with a variety of readings, videos, and films on important historical, cultural, social, and political topics in German-speaking countries, students will have the opportunity to practice grammar and vocabulary in embedded and culturally relevant contexts. The aim of this course is to equip students with the skills to understand extended speech, to read articles on contemporary problems, to describe personal experiences and to explain viewpoints on topical issues in speech and in writing. The textbook offers engaging culture topics, authentic readings, contextualized grammar and a reliable online platform. Regular online meetings will be devoted to communicative and interactive exercises and group work. In order to successfully participate in these activities, independent work and preparation are paramount.

GER 305H MASTERPIECES OF GERMAN LITERATURE 2

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

Building on GER 205H, this course provides an introduction to German literature and culture from the 18th to the 21st century. Within a chronological and thematic framework, we will read and analyze excerpts from representative works of major German writers. Students learn to read critically and to consider the literary qualities of the German language. The course is required for majors and specialists; it should be taken as soon after GER 205 as possible.

NOTES: Required course for majors and specialists. / Prerequisite for 400-level topic courses in German.

GER 310H CONTEMPORARY GERMAN CULTURE & MEDIA

PREREQUISITE: GER 200Y/201H

This course provides students with the opportunity to encounter more advanced texts focusing on modern German culture, as expressed through a variety of media. It examines a range of issues that have changed the way we look at culture, as well as the impact of these changes on national identity. It offers a diverse view of German life based on reading selections from literary works, memoirs, newspaper reports, commentaries, and interdisciplinary materials which highlight important cultural movements.

GER 320H AGE OF GOETHE: REVOLUTION & ROMANTICISM

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

The lifespan of Germany's most famous poet, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, spanned the end of the feudal age and the rise of the modern period in Germany (French Revolution, Romanticism, Napoleon's conquest, Hegel's Phenomenologie, war & reform movements, Heinrich von Kleist and E. T. A. Hoffmann). The aim of this course is to provide a survey of this innovating period in German literature.

GER 321H LITERARY REALISM IN THE INDUSTRIAL AGE

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

This course offers an examination of German literary movements as they responded to the challenge of social and historical changes in the 19th century. Despite many challenges, the century was shaped by the belief in progress and the optimism that new scientific discoveries would lead to a better life for Germany and mankind. The course studies how German authors reflected on these changes in literary, political and philosophical texts.

GER 322H KAFKA'S WORLD

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

How do we know how to live life in the modern world, when none of our points of reference seem to hold any reliability or stability? How can we even be sure that we are human, and not some strange, deformed animal with consciousness? For Kafka, the German-Jewish-Czech writer who lived most of his life in Prague, the only way to answer such troubling questions was to make them the basis of his writing. His works offer a unique model for thinking about human life in the modern world, about consciousness, the body, dreaming and waking, the nature of the social world, and many similar issues. And embedded in his writing is a set of unique ideas about how to read literature.

GER 323H WEIMAR: SEX & POLITICS IN THE ROARING TWENTIES

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

The political instability of the Weimar Republic, fueled by the effects of the Global Economic Crisis, facilitated Hitler's election in 1933. Yet at the same time it was a period of extraordinary political-social-artistic achievements. Expressionism, Dada, Neue Sachlichkeit, Bauhaus, and the Golden Age of German Film are some of the buzz words which belong to the legacy of Weimar. This course studies literary, historical, and artistic documents of this extremely significant period in German history.

GER 326H WRITING MEMORY: POST 1945

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

German literature after World War II started from a new beginning, with many authors attempting to find a way of describing the shocking experience of war and devastation – often taking their cue from foreign models or existentialist and traditional Christian trains of thought. This course offers an examination of this post-War literature & culture from 'Zero Hour' through to contemporary debates about the Holocaust and its memorization.

GER 332H DEVIANCE-MADNESS-OUTSIDERS

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

Throughout modern history, writers have tested the limits of normal human experience by casting their protagonists into the depths of madness, by casting them out of society, and following them through their trials, their elation, their despair. This course examines a number of texts that see the world through the eyes of outsiders, and that see the outsiders through the eyes of the world. Our aim will be to analyze literary descriptions of the limit experiences that separate "normal" life from its other. In the process, we will discuss topics such as truth and truth telling, exclusionary and assimilating practices for dealing with madness and outsiders, discourses of containment, and how the outsider perspective unsettles truth in literature.

GER 334H POST-MIGRANT GERMANY

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

Identities in Process, Writing Outside the Nation, The Turkish Turn in Contemporary German Literature – the titles of recent studies emphasize that German literature has long since left the national corner. Specific topics of this course may vary, but broadly speaking the focus of this course is on minor(ity) perspectives and on voices from the 'off' of the past 40 years (i.e. the literary works that arose from post-war migration).

GER 336H BERLIN BETWEEN EAST AND WEST

PREREQUISITE: GER 205H

An exploration of the cultural development of Berlin, from the Bismarckian era through the Weimar Republic and the Third Reich to the construction of the Wall, labor migration, German reunification and beyond. Class themes vary, but typical topics include present-day fictionalizations of Berlin as the divided and reunited city, Berlin as a site of multicultural encounters, and the interplay of art and politics in Germany's capital.

GER 340H GERMAN THEATRE PRODUCTION: PREPARATION, REHEARSAL, STAGING

PREREQUISITE: GER 200Y/201H

This course focuses on reading, interpreting, contextualizing, rehearsing & staging a German play. In the process of the course, students become familiar with the different steps of a theater production – from read-through to tech-run & dress rehearsal to actual performances. They take on various responsibilities that go along with any theater production, such as playbills, programs, costumes, set, sound & lights, dramaturgy, etc. For links to plays staged to date, see last section of [E. Boran's website.]

GER 350H GERMAN VISUAL CULTURES:

SCREEN NAZIS: THE REPRESENTATION OF NATIONAL SOCIALISM IN FILM

We also review basic principles of film analysis and integrate vocabulary specific to the study of German visual texts.

GER 354Y0 Berlin between East & West: A Tale of More than One City [E]

A wall once divided Germany's capital in two. Yet Berlin has always been much more than two cities. It is perhaps best described, in the words of author Zafer Senocak, as "the capital of the fragment." Since the reunification of East and West Germany in 1990, Berlin has become a space of cultural diversity, national memory and constant transformation. This course (taught in the German capital during the summer term) is an exploration of the diversity and richness of Berlin today and of the various cultural influences that have shaped the city over time.

NOTE: This is a course offered through UofT's Summer Abroad Program. It is taught in English and open to students across disciplines. German degree students have the option of taking it for German credit as GER 355Y0; please inquire at the department. Scholarships available.

Study Abroad Opportunities

One of the highlights of any student career is studying abroad. This is particularly true for students of language. There is no better and more effective way to learn a language than to be immersed in a culture that speaks the language you are learning. The locations themselves become your “living textbook.” You're surrounded by the language on a daily basis and are seeing and hearing it in the proper cultural context. Language learning happens most quickly under these circumstances.

Also, weekends and academic breaks allow you to venture out and explore your surroundings. Since studying abroad often puts you on a completely different continent, you are much closer to places you might otherwise not have had the opportunity to visit. Some more structured study abroad programs even have field trips planned in or around the curriculum.

Being immersed in an entirely new cultural setting might be a bit scary at first, but it's also exciting. It's an opportunity to discover new strengths and abilities, conquer new challenges, and solve new problems. You will encounter situations that are wholly unfamiliar to you and will learn to adapt and respond in effective ways.

Importantly, while abroad you will meet not only natives to the culture in which you are studying, but also other international students who are as far from home as yourself. This will allow you to make amazing friends. Students who study abroad return home with new ideas and perspectives about themselves and their own culture. The experience often challenges them to reconsider their own beliefs and values. It may strengthen those values or it may cause students to alter or abandon them and embrace new concepts and perceptions. The encounter with other cultures enables students to see their own culture through new eyes.

And one last piece of info: Did you know that not even 5% of Canadian undergraduates ever study abroad? Yet, the world continues to become more globalized, countries are increasingly investing money abroad, and companies from countries around the world continue to invest in the international market. Through an employer's eyes, a student who has studied abroad is self-motivated, independent, willing to embrace challenges, and able to cope with diverse problems and situations. Your experience living and studying in a foreign country, negotiating another culture, and acquiring another language will all set you apart from most other job applicants.

Do you need more good reasons for participating in a study abroad program? We don't think so. So let's have a look at some of the opportunities you have as a German student at UofT ...

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO: SUMMER ABROAD PROGRAMS

The Summer Abroad programs are designed to enrich students' academic lives by providing an exciting and educational international experience. Students complete full-year undergraduate degree credit courses from the Faculty of Arts & Science that are relevant to the location. Small classes are taught by UofT professors or faculty from the host university.

2018 was the 18th year that UofT has offered a summer program in Berlin. Over 450 students have enthusiastically participated in the program since it began. It runs for four weeks from around mid-July to mid-August. Participating students receive a full credit. Typically, there are two classes offered in English.

In addition to spending a summer abroad, you can also participate in an exchange program. If you are interested, please contact the UofT International Student Exchange Office (ISXO)

While Berlin is an incredible and unique city, it is by no means the only place where you can study. In addition, there are various exciting programs in place that also allow you to take courses for UofT credit. Foremost among them is the OBW Program.

ONTARIO/BADEN-WÜRTTEMBERG STUDENT EXCHANGE PROGRAM

In the 16 years since its founding, the Exchange (known familiarly as the "OBW" program) has exchanged over 1500 university students between the universities of Ontario and the Land Baden-Württemberg in Germany. Both states are known for their excellent universities, the important role they play within their national economies and internationally, and their natural beauty.

Participating BW-universities are located in Freiburg, Heidelberg, Hohenheim, Karlsruhe, Konstanz, Mann-heim, Stuttgart, Tübingen and Ulm. All of them are excellent, and all of them offer a variety of programs which you can find out more about on the OBW website.

THE CANADIAN SUMMER SCHOOL IN GERMANY (CSSG)

This is yet another fascinating option for you. The CSSG offers university-level language and culture studies in Kassel, in a unique and intensive immersion program. It's organized under the auspices of the Canadian Association of University Teachers of German (CAUTG) and offers courses at the intermediate and advanced level. For a period of around 6 1/2 weeks, students participate in a full course (around 85 hours of classroom instruction) and in numerous additional activities: lectures at various museums, visits to theatres and operas, excursions to cities with cultural and historical significance, and a four-day trip to Berlin.

INTERNATIONAL SUMMER & WINTER UNIVERSITY FUBiS BERLIN

For those of you who are a bit more adventurous or independent, there are also other academic programs out there that will get you UofT credit (if you inquire about it in advance and get courses pre-approved). Among these programs is FUBiS which offers an intensive, academic program. FUBiS sessions run for 4 to 6 weeks and take place both in summer and winter.

YIDDISH SUMMER PROGRAM AT THE NATIONAL YIDDISH BOOK CENTRE

For those of you who study Yiddish, the Steiner Summer Internship Program in Amhurst, MA. offers college students a tuition-free, seven-week immersion in Yiddish culture. The goal of the program is to provide a new generation with Yiddish language literacy; substantive knowledge of the history, literature and culture of Jews in central and Eastern Europe and beyond; and practical models for preservation, research, translation, and artistic expression. The application deadline is in February. Finally, here is a program that offers a totally different kind of experience: You won't get credit for it, but you'll earn & learn – earn some money and learn a lot of German.

WERKSTUDENTENPROGRAMM (WSP)

The Canadian Association of University Teachers of German (CAUTG), in co-operation with the Zentrale Arbeitsvermittlung and the Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst (DAAD), organizes a program of work and travel in Germany from May until August each year. This program gives Canadian students looking for valuable work experience or want to improve their command of the German language the opportunity to work at summer jobs in Germany.

Of course, there are more programs out there, but the ones mentioned are among the most relevant ones. Please be on the lookout for our Study Abroad Session (which is typically held in late October / early November) and make sure not to miss any application dead-lines (which are often as early as January).

SEVERAL PRACTICAL TIPS

- Make sure to get courses you intend to take pre-approved by the Undergraduate Coordinator. You may not take language courses on the identical level as courses already taken at UofT. If you do so, you won't be granted transfer credit for them.
- Since many of the programs require a language test and/or a reference letter, schedule appointments early – otherwise we might not be able to accommodate you.
- Be aware of deadlines.
- Contact the ISXO (International Student Exchange Office) for more information.

Things German in Toronto

There are many ways to make the best out of your German studies. One of them is by getting as much exposure to “things German” as possible. In order to do so, you don’t even have to travel – or at least you don’t have to travel far, as many of them are within easy reach. Here are a few suggestions for how to get you daily German outside of the German classroom ...

- Visit one of our many events & activities, such as lectures, symposia and readings & screenings, as well as the occasional German Stammtisch. For event descriptions and schedules, check <http://www.german.utoronto.ca/>
- <http://www.facebook.com/gssutoronto> Join the German Studies Student Union (GSSU). They meet regularly and plan interesting and fun activities. If you want to contact them, here is their e-mail.
- Check out the Goethe-Institut Toronto at 100 University Ave., North Tower, Suite 201. The institute offers an extensive film library (that allows you to check out movies for free) and various German newspapers and magazines. It also organizes many events and activities.
- The Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst (German Academic Exchange Service) is a government sponsored institute for the promotion of academic cooperation between Germany and other nations. It is active in Canada, where it is represented at the University of Toronto.
- You could also subscribe to the German Consulate's Newsletter, which notifies you of German events, news, job opportunities and study abroad information: Facebook page.
- Join the German Meetup Toronto, an informal group of German-speakers and people who would like to meet them to practice their German. They meet regularly for beers and brunches. They also organize outings.
- Regularly read short articles in German online newspapers and magazines, such as Der Spiegel, Die Zeit or die taz.
- Deutsche Welle provides online news, culture, sport, and much more.
- YouTube offers a wealth of German clips. For instance, try searching for “Berliner Mauer” or “Goethe Faust” or “Bayern Muenchen” – and see what German clips come up ...

These are only some ideas that will get you in contact with German outside the classroom. There are more “things German” around if only you look ...
